DISCLAIMER: I DO NOT OWN THE HUNGER GAMES OR ITS' CHARACTERS.

Lunch in District 12 is a luxury for everyone. When, of course, it is existent. Students often go to and from school empty-bellied, most rarely eat at all.

Peeta Mellark is severely abused at home, and sometimes; as a result of hunger and hopelessness, spots swim in his vision and-

"_Peeta, wake up."_

His bright blue eyes fly open to the sight of his lab partner, (and, admittedly; unconditional love of his life) Katniss Everdeen, brushing his hair out of his eyes as she whispers.

Not again.

At this rate, he thought, _I'll pass out in all of my classes._

They sit in silence, fingers intertwined at the wooden lunch table.

"Katniss?"

"Hmm?"

Peeta's heart pounds, his hands sweaty, "I-I brought you something.."

Her eyes widen, "Peeta, I-"

He places the brown, paper bag on the table; brimful with charred, stale bread. Food is rare, though; so Peeta's heart immediately flutters at Katniss' lit up face, "I thought that maybe we could share a lunch...for real."

Tears swim in Katniss' stormy eyes as she squeezes his hand.

"Okay."
